

Barbara Woynarowska. M.D., Ph.D. – pediatrician, school medicine specialist, professor in the Department of Biomedical Aspects of Development and Sexuology, Faculty of Pedagogy University of Warsaw. Member of editorial group for National Health Programme (1990, 1996). Member of research team in HBSC study (Health Behaviour in School-aged Children: A WHO Collaborative Cross-national Study – 1989–). Co-author of the concept of health promoting school in Poland, National Coordinator in European Network of Health Promoting Schools (1992–1997), member of Research Group in School for Health in Europe network (2012–). Head of Programming Council on Health Promotion and Prevention of Children and Adolescents Problems (2009–). Author of many scientific publications concerning: health, prevention of diseases and health care for children and adolescents, auxology, school health, sports medicine, health education and health promotion.

